1 Applicability

Wallee Group AG (from here on also referred to as "wallee") as a supplier offers its customers (hereinafter "contractual partner") a payment service via an electronic platform (hereinafter "product", "platform" or "wallee") with which payments can be processed and all related services in e-commerce as well as POS are offered.

These General Terms and Conditions (hereinafter referred to as "GTC") apply to the contract between the contractual partner and Wallee Group AG. The use of the product may require the contractual partner to enter into further contracts with payment service providers (e.g. Acquirer) in order to be able to accept cashless payments. All resulting fees are to be borne by the contractual partner.

The personal designations used in the following General Terms and Conditions should be construed as applying to both male and female persons.

Acquisition, operation and maintenance of an infrastructure suitable for the use of the product, as well as the safety precautions against the misuse of the infrastructure, are fully the responsibility of the contractual partner.

This is also the case if the contractual partner uses premanufactured plugins or modules.

3 The wallee Platform

3.1 General

wallee operates and manages the product in technical, organizational and administrative terms. In principle the contractual partner is not entitled to constant availability or trouble-free usage of the platform. Exceptions include if the contractual partner and wallee have entered into any SLA supplementary agreements.

wallee is entitled to interrupt the operation of the platform at its reasonable discretion if this is necessary for compelling reasons, such as for example system changes and additions, disturbances or risk of abuse.

wallee reserves the right to change or supplement the product in technical and organizational terms. If this results in any adjustments to the infrastructure, the contractual partner shall make these adjustments at his own expense, following the instructions of wallee and the respective supplier.

3.2 Data Transmission and Storage

wallee acts as a technical intermediary of the contracting partner's data to and from other payment service providers. wallee assumes no liability whatsoever in connection with third parties for the correctness or expediency of an authorization, payment or rejection.

The transfer of the transaction data is encrypted. Currently, wallee uses the TLS encryption method. wallee is entitled at any time to use a different procedure to increase the safety standard. However, since the transmission takes place via the Internet, wallee does not assume any guarantee for the security of the transmitted data.

The contractual partner can access the data stored on the platform for at least 12 months. wallee is entitled to access stored data at any time. However, wallee does not provide any archiving of this data for the contractual partner. ### 3.3 Changing the Platform and Interfaces wallee reserves the right at all times to modify and adapt software and interfaces, to make a new version available to the contractual partner and to modify the functions and/or characteristics of the software.

3.4 Communication

wallee and the contractual partner communicate via e-mail. The contractual partner notes that by means of electronic exchange of information via e-mail, the following risks to be borne by the contractual partner exist:

- Information is transmitted unencrypted via an open network accessible to everyone;
- it cannot be ruled out that the information can be viewed and/or altered by third parties. Such third parties can include existing customer relationships;
- the identity of the sender (email address) can be simulated or in other respects be manipulated;
- information exchange may be delayed or interrupted as a result of transmission errors, technical deficiencies, interruptions, interferences, unlawful interference, overloading of the network, deliberate blockage of the electronic access points by third parties or other inadequacies of the network operators.

For the communication via e-mail wallee uses the coordinates of the contracting party mentioned in the application. In case of changes of address, the contractual partner updates his contact data online in the platform.

wallee is also authorized to inform the merchant of any changes and offers on the platform via e-mail.

We will provide you with support to resolve general issues relating to your wallee account and your use of the services. This support includes resources and documentation that we make available to you through the current versions of our support pages, API documentation, etc. Further help and guaranteed service levels are subject to additional contract components and options.
